THRONG GREETS HOOVER AT LOUISVILLE

G. O. P. NOMINEE HAPPY OVER OVATION GIVEN IN KENTUCKY

"Victory Special" Speeding Through Indiana.

SECOND INVASION
Four-hour Visit and Speech in St. Louis.

By Lawrence Sullivan.
EN ROUTE WITH HOOVER, NORTH VERNON, Ind., Nov. 2.—Trotting the route followed by his Democratic opponent three weeks ago, Herbert Hoover today was moving westward with Louisville, where he made his second personal invasion of the debatable border state territory, behind him.

As in his invasion of Tennessee last month, the Republican nominee centered his fight for the 13 electoral votes of the blue grass state upon his prosperity keynote. His brief informal talk called out enthusiastic applause from a throng which awaited him under threatening skies.

Swings Into Ohio Valley.
ON BOARD HOOVER SPECIAL ENROUTE TO LOUISVILLE, Nov. 2—Speeding westward along "my own main street," Herbert Hoover carried his Republican prosperity keynote into Ohio, Kentucky and Indiana today.

Happy over ovations accorded him uniformly in hamlet, village and town throughout Maryland and West Virginia, the nominee and his campaign chief, Dr. Hubert Work, Republican national chairman, swing into the Ohio valley with renewed confidence on the outcome of next Tuesday's presidential balloting.

The Victory Special was the name given the Hoover train by his campaign managers aboard. Skirting Cincinnati, the special crossed the Ohio river into Kentucky shortly after 8 o'clock this morning.

A stop of an hour and a half, with a street parade and a brief address, comprised Hoover's Louisville program between 10:10 and 11:49 a. m., after which he was to head northward through Indiana for St. Louis, where (Continued on page eight, Col. one)

GUEST OF DEMS

SMITH FIGHTS IN NEW YORK AS CAMPAIGN NEARS CLOSE

G. O. P. Stresses Issue of Prosperity in Grain Belt.

BOTH CONFIDENT
Party Leaders List Claims and Class Doubtful States.

By GEORGE R. HOLMES.

NEW YORK, Nov. 2—Hoover campaigning westward, seeking to bolster up real or fancied Republican weak spots in the grain belt—Smith fighting in the east, particularly to clinch his own New York.

The Republicans drumming steadily away on the one issue of prosperity—the Democrats conducting a grand assault along a dozen fronts, from prohibition to water power, from farm relief to religious intolerance.

Thus does the campaign draw near a close today, a campaign that has no parallel in American politics, and one as well that this near the end finds both parties serenely confident—"something is in the air," is the way Governor Smith puts it—"it means victory."

Smith Launches Final Drive.

"I cannot believe," said Herbert Hoover in Maryland last night, "that the American people wish to abandon those policies of government which have been maintained by the Republican party."

While Mr. Hoover steamed westward today, Governor Smith launched his final drive in New York. The Democratic finale embraces a big parade and two speeches, one in Brooklyn tonight, the other in Madison Square Garden tomorrow night.

The confidence that prevails in both camps, a confidence which extends from the highest director to the most lowly worker in the ranks, is little short of amazing. Both sides are always confident for publication purposes in all elections, but this year the confidence extends even to the private conversations and predictions of the inner sanctums.

Republican Claims.

This has been induced largely by surface indications, straw votes, etc., which point to Republican victory.

The Republican leaders have put out an electoral table that claims 285 electoral votes as Hoover's irreducible minimum. The Democrats have put out a similar table claiming 258 (Continued on page eight, Col. five)

DAVEY VISITS SALEM; SPEAKS HERE AT 4:30

Democratic Candidate for Governor Hits "Vote Stealing."

"BOSSES" SCORED

Nominee Goes to Warren After County Tour.

On a swing through Columbian county in the interests of the Democratic state and national ticket, Congressman Martin L. Davey, Kent, nominee for governor, will speak at an open air meeting in the Diamond at 4:30 o'clock this afternoon.

The Democratic candidate reached Salem at 1 o'clock this afternoon where he spoke at a street meeting. From Salem he was taken to Wellsville where he made his second speech of the county campaign.

Davey will leave East Liverpool at 5 o'clock for Warren, where he is scheduled to speak at 7 o'clock. After his address there, he will go to Youngstown for a rally at 8:30 o'clock.

Davey assailed "vote stealing" and charged the "city bosses" with "corruption" in his Salem speech.

Davey, traveling by motor, was accompanied by C. A. Knight, Akron newspaper representative. He was met at Salem by Mayor Ralph Benedict, chairman of the Columbian county Democratic executive committee; C. V. Beatty, Attorney S. W. Crawford and Dr. Joseph T. Williamson, all of East Liverpool, and a group of Democrats from Salem and Lisbon. The committee also accompanied him to Wellsville following the Salem meeting and will come with him to East Liverpool.

Two Rallies in Canton.
CANTON, O., Nov. 2.—Stark county was ready for the election today following rallies by both parties here last night.

Postmaster General Harry New spoke at the G. O. P. gathering, stressing prosperity as the chief issue of the present campaign and lauding the record ability of Hoover.

Martin L. Davey, Democratic candidate for governor of Ohio, was the principal speaker at the Democratic rally. He came out with a strong speech for Gov. Smith.

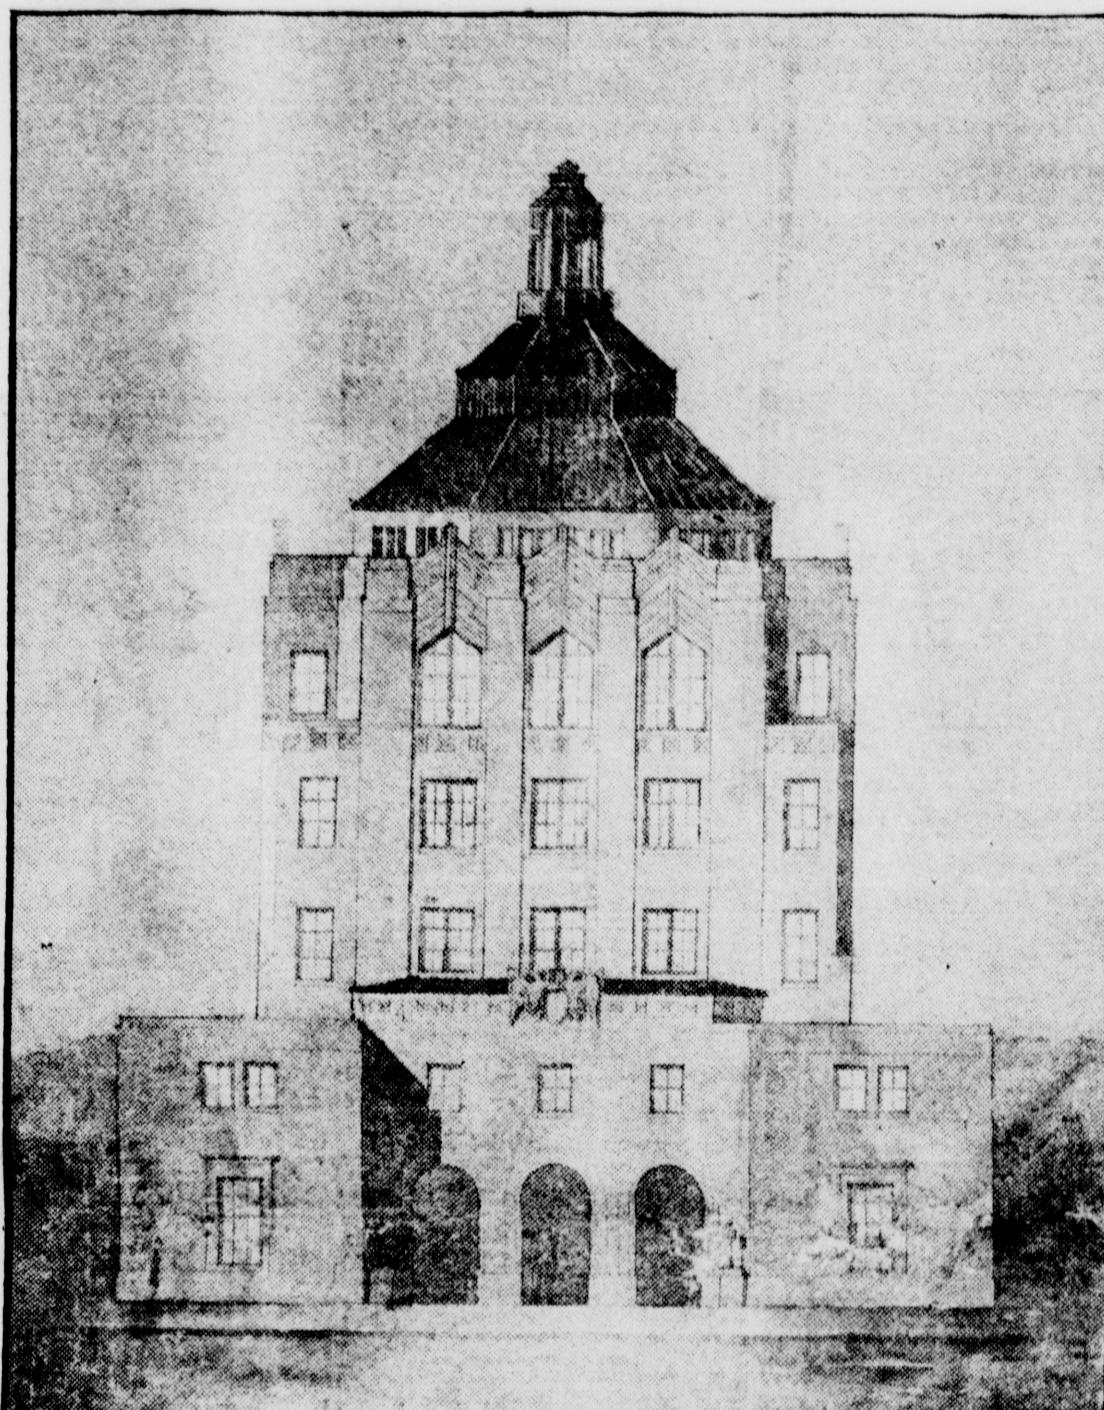

WORKERS' PARTY RALLY SUNDAY

Eleventh anniversary of the Russian revolution will be commemorated at a mass meeting in the Potters' Hall, West Sixth street, at 2:30 o'clock Sunday afternoon, under the auspices of the Workers' Communistic party. B. Martin, Cleveland, will be the speaker.

Window Washer Killed in Fall.
CANTON, O., Nov. 2.—Funeral services were being arranged today for Anthony Musisk, 20, widow washer, who was killed late yesterday in a fall from the eighth story window of a bank building in Massillon.

Members of the East Liverpool Dubliners are requested to attend important meeting tonight at 8 o'clock in the Chamber of Commerce room.

EAST LIVERPOOL'S PROPOSED $160,000 CITY HALL

The above is the architect's conception of the new city hall to be erected here provided the proposed $160,000 bond issue is approved at next Tuesday's election. The drawing was made by Paul T. Cahill, Cleveland.

His plans call for the erection of a five-story fireproof building, providing quarters for the police department and all city officers and a public auditorium.

BILLY SUNDAY USHERS GIVEN INSTRUCTIONS

Secretaries are Also Organized for Revival Services.

INITIAL DRILL

Evangelistic Campaign Will Open Here Sunday.

Ushers and secretaries, between 60 and 70 in number, were organized and given initial drill for their forthcoming duties during the Billy Sunday revival in the tabernacle last night by Alfred Peterson, advance man for the evangelist. The campaign will open on Sunday.

Will T. McNutt, chief usher, and his assistant, Fred McGilivray, will have places on the platform as will Fred Smith, the chief secretary.

Three benches nearest the platform will be reserved for the secretaries and their wives or near relatives.

The four main aisles and the platform will be presided over by captains to whom all of the ushers will report. They are Charles Wynne, Harrison Smith, James Fox, Harold Gallimore and R. G. Stephens, respectively.

Aisles Divided into Sections

Aisles have been divided into sections over which will be an usher. End seats double-marked "usher" have been provided for them, their wives and friends. Ushers arriving first (Continued on page eight, Col. four)

TOLEDO KILLER LOSES APPEAL

Charles Hoppe to Pay Death Penalty Next Friday.

COLUMBUS, O., Nov. 2.—The Ohio supreme court today rejected the application of counsel for Charles Stanley Hoppe, Toledo murderer, for permission to file a petition in error from the decree of the Lucas county courts which sentenced him to electrocution for killing 7-year-old Dorothy Slatagowsky at Toledo.

Hoppe is scheduled to die in the electric chair at Ohio penitentiary next Friday night. He was to have been electrocuted tonight but the supreme court late yesterday granted him a week's stay of execution.

No appeal has been received at the governor's office for executive clemency for Hoppe. Jacob Meckstroth, secretary to Governor Vic Donahoe, stated this afternoon.

In the event that an appeal is made, the governor will refer it to the state clemency board, Meckstroth said.

SAYS HOOVER'S A-1 INSURANCE

NEW YORK, Nov. 2.—Charles Evans Hughes declared in a speech here last night that the election of Herbert Hoover is the best insurance policy the voters can write, and coined some new titles for the Republican presidential candidate.

In predicting Hoover's victory, Hughes called him "the apostle of cooperation" and "an engineer of progress."

"In voting for Herbert Hoover," said Hughes, "we will do our utmost to promote the prosperity which is the foundation of progress. Republican success on election day is the best insurance policy we can write."

ERECT $30,000 GAS STATION

Freedom Company Buys Sixth Street Site.

Contract for the erection of a gas-line filling station, costing approximately $30,000 at Jackson and West Sixth street, adjoining the W. A. Weaver & Company wholesale grocery, has been awarded by the Freedom Oil company to the Winland Brothers Lumber company, Bradshaw avenue.

Site for the station, now occupied by a home, was bought by the oil company from W. A. Weaver, who recently acquired it from Dr. John Baum.

The dwelling has been sold to Clarence E. West, who began the razing of it today. Ground for the station will be broken in about two weeks.

The lot has a frontage of 35 feet in Sixth street and 34 feet in Jackson street.

The filling station will be a cream-colored brick with a green tile canopy roof. It will contain four 1,000-gallon underground tanks equipped with meter pumps. Rest rooms for the convenience of motorists will be provided.

The station will be completed on or about December 15, according to Guy Emmerling, manager of the local plant of the Freedom company.

SCHOOLS CLOSE DECEMBER 22

Christmas Vacation Will End on New Year's.

Christmas vacation in the East Liverpool public schools was set for Dec. 22 Jan. 1, inclusive, by the board of education last night.

These dates were fixed upon recommendation of Superintendent C. S. McVay, who said that the usual 16-week term of school before the holiday adjournment would be completed Dec. 21. By resuming school on Wednesday, Jan. 2, the term will be completed a week earlier if the reopening were postponed until Monday, Jan. 7.

In keeping with the custom of previous years there will be no school on Thursday, Nov. 29, Thanksgiving day, or the day following, the board decided. Schools will dismiss Wednesday, Nov. 28, and reopen Dec. 3.

Upon recommendation Miss Edith Lung, Columbus, representative of the state department of education, the board approved the organization of night classes in home economics in the high school. The state, Supt. McVay reported, will bear one-half of the cost of employing teachers for this department, while the other half will be assessed against those enrolling.

Classes, which will meet two nights a week between 7:30 and 9:30 o'clock, will be taught by Misses Gladys Robbette and Alice Morrison, of the home economics department in the high school.

2,000 OHIOANS BRAVE RAIN TO CHEER HOOVER

"Victory Special" Arrives at Norwood Station.

NO SPEECH MADE

Another Crowd of 3,500 at Cincinnati Stop.

CINCINNATI, O., Nov. 2.—The "Victory Special" bearing Herbert Hoover to Palo Alto, Cal., his home, with incident stops at Louisville, Ky., where he will deliver an address this afternoon, and other points enroute, arrived at Norwood station here at 7:35 a.m. today over the Baltimore and Ohio lines.

Two thousand admirers thronged the station, braving the early morning downpour, but were disappointed when Hoover acknowledged their welcome with a wave of the hand and a smile, shaking his head to appeal for a speech. His train pulled out of Norwood and reached Winton Place at 7:44.

Here again a crowd, this time of 3,500, who anticipated a speech by the Republican nominee, jammed the station, believing the train would stop for ten minutes as had been rumored. The time was cut to two minutes, however, and no speech was made. Hoover seemed appreciative of the warm welcome given him by Cincinnati partisans, acknowledging their plaudits with a smile as the train steamed on to Storrs station, where it was switched to the lines of the Louisville and Nashville railroad for the journey to Louisville.

This marked the last appearance of the Republican candidate in Ohio prior to election day.

A wasp's nest, 18 inches square and 12 inches deep was found recently in a house at Baffield, England.

3. Value—You should get a fair return on your investment.

The more systematic you are in your purchasing, the more cordially do we welcome you as a purchaser. It is not our boast but our pride that this store measures up to the standards of the most exacting customers. The Rule of Three is the rule of reason in shopping.

CUYAHOGA GETS NEW BOARD OF VOTE CHIEFS

Three Men and One Woman are Recommended.

CLASH OVER WITT

Mrs. Bernice Pyke, Removed, Declines Reinstatement.

CLEVELAND, Nov. 2.—Selections for Cuyahoga county's new board of elections, made by Republican and Democratic organizations late yesterday, were to be certified by Secretary of State Clarence J. Brown today.

The Republicans named Mrs. Anna Stone Mathew and W. A. C. Smith as their members of the board, while the Democrats chose Maurice Berzon and John Krause.

Mrs. Bernice Pyke, Democratic member of the former board which was removed by the secretary of state, Tuesday, refused to accept a Democratic appointment for reinstatement. Attorney General Edward C. Turner and a special grand jury which had been investigating evidence of frauds in past elections here, had recommended that Mrs. Pyke be exempted from the removal order, but the secretary of state dismissed the entire board.

"I believe that Mr. Brown in acting as he did performed his duty as he saw it," Mrs. Pyke said, in declining the appointment of her party for reinstatement. "I therefore neither criticize nor condemn him." She further said that she felt further investigation by the grand jury would vindicate her record as a board member.

A lively skirmish occurred during the Democratic meeting over the proposal to name Peter Witt, Liberal Democrat, as one of the two choices.

W. Barr Gongwer, Democratic citizen, opposed Witt for the latter's failure to support Martin L. Davey, Democratic candidate for governor, and for the sake of party harmony the Witt adherents finally abandoned their stand.

From 1 to 3 o'clock each afternoon, the Columbian county board of deputy state supervisors of elections will be in session at the headquarters in the Betz building, Market street, to hear applications of voters who were unable to register on Oct. 4, 11, 18 and 29.

Tomorrow and Monday will be the last opportunities to safeguard your right of suffrage, non-registered voters.

Toy Trend For Christmas

Toys are taking their place beside the photoplay at an agency which is spreading American ways around the world.

In the toy field, the United States primarily, is an importer, but Germany, still one of the leading toy exporters, has made copies of American mechanisms, and has even borrowed from American comic strips and fiction to obtain new ideas for toys for the approaching Christmas season.

At a recent toy fair at Leipzig literally acres of exhibits were devoted to playthings, and an amazing number of the devices showed strong American influence.

Many of those toys, of course, will be exported to the United States, for this nation still is one of Germany's best toy customers. But thousands of others were bought for the 42 countries other than America which sent buyers to the fair.

What does the Leipzig fair show as the toy trend for next Christmas?

For one thing, numerous toy automobiles in American styles. One firm of Germany toy makers sent a designer to Detroit to copy models. In toy form, too, are many types of American labor-saving machinery. And, says information from the National Geographic Society, among the novelties is a working model of an automatic lighthouse with its flashing lights and its fog horns and bells.

The newest mechanical animals seem more lifelike than ever before. The mechanical lion, for example, retreats, crouches, and then springs forward, roaring. The peacock proudly struts about extending and closing his tail. Mechanical fish swim with an undulating motion.

Many familiar figures from the comic strips are recognized by Americans. These figures are made in a variety of sizes and on being wound up make characteristic gestures.

Doll designing has become a fine art, and excellent talent, including famous sculptors, is engaged in this work. The most novel of the new dolls is of the "synthetic" type. Various parts are detachable and may be substituted by parts of a different color or shape—heads, arms, legs, wigs, etc. Doll wardrobes are of bewildering variety, including complete outfitts for morning wear, the street, evening wear, and night wear.

Much space at the toy fair was taken up with ornaments for Christmas trees. Many of the ornaments are factory made, but the familiar colored balls and tinsel designs are made for the most part in the kitchens of German farm houses. The handcraft, like wood-carving, has been handed down from generation to generation.

Toys of some sort have been shown at the Leipzig fair throughout the 700 years of its existence. This year, for the first time, American-made toys were exhibited.

Woman And Beauty

Nature is gradually losing in the struggle with cosmetics. No longer is the dictum of nature sufficient to satisfy the fascinating young woman of the moment. Or the demure matron or desperate dowager, for that matter.

Beauty is not an endowment of nature any longer. It can be found concealed in bottles and boxes at any toilet goods counter.

And American women, without regard to their age, have become devout worshippers at this modern-day fountain of youth. Exterior decorating, as applied to the feminine person, has come a rare art.

Ninety out of every hundred women one passes in the streets uses face powder. Toilet water has 73 devotees in each 100, while the faint but enticing aroma of perfume will fill the air in 71 of each 100 cases.

That flush of youth in the cheeks, artistically presented by a touch of rouge, graces the faces of 55 in the group. But the lipstick hasn't won universal approval yet, as only 15 in each 100 are addicts.

Thousands upon thousands of dollars are spent annually by women in the quest of added beauty and charm. Yet while the average woman can keep herself fully equipped in toilet articles for less than $35 a year, the average man smoker passes more than $60 over the cigar counter annually.

Cosmetics and their allied aids to beauty have become one of the greatest factors in the business of the modern drug store and the department store. Extent of the business is little known to the average person. Including shades, scents, sizes, brands and shapes, there are more than 1,300 kinds of face powder. And powder is but a small item in the business.

There are more than 1,200 kinds of perfume, cold creams number 600, rouges, ranging from carmine to near-yellow, consist of 347 assortments. Then there are 110 eyelash preparations, 231 kinds of lipstick, 742 toilet waters, 396 hair tonics and dyes and 452 varieties of soap.

The American woman certainly is doing everything she can to make herself more attractive. And who will say her may?

The Red Cross prepares today to call the roll in corporal works of mercy.

Penelope and Rosalie will have to find a new alibi for being late now that they have new watches which aren't supposed to stop at unexpected moments or lose an hour at a time.

Penelope has a collapsible watch that fits into a small snakeskin case that, when snapped shut, is safe from breakage and moisture. It may be carried in the pockets of purse and has radium figures. It is used as a traveling clock, too. Rosalie shows her more feminine preference in this pendant affair with a cameo back which has space for a tiny photo.

NEW YORK Day By Day

By O. O. McIntyre.

NEW YORK, Nov. 2—Thoughts while strolling. One idea of swank a window table at a Fifth Avenue Child's. New stores with fronts done modernistically in glass. No more wavy, floppy millinery. Who remembers when men wrote complaining letters to newspapers about the dangers of hat pins in crowded places?

Don Herold, a Richmond, Ind., boy who made good in the city, Harold Ross, no relation of the one who was kidnapped. Artists carrying easels to Central Park. Bobbie Arnst's cutie bob. Those doodads hanging in the back windows of autos. The contented expression of those who ride in motorcycle side cars.

Men who dream days away on pab-h benches. That half block long sign? "Where will you spend eternity?" They say Roxy believes he resembles Napoleon. And he does, a little. Walter Gazzardi who owns the Pickwick Inn. The little, pantherine models of the dressmaking salons, o-boy.

The aged who rest on church steps. Girls who carelessly tip cigarette ends out limousine windows. Those torpedo explosives that make New York jump. A school for motion picture operators. Bootlegging chop houses that open and disappear like a magician's evanishment.

A bright-lipped Japanese flapper. And a midnight in a salacious street band. Wish Paul Whiteman would bring his orchestra back to New York permanently. Young girl to another. "He's an awful aah." Ho-hum! don't smell of carbolic acid and bodyform anymore. Edward W. Brown's becoming white-haired.

Bluch, the el-oh, and like all clowns, apparently lost in reverie. A Nature Lover's paradise. I'll stick around. Wendell Phillips Dodge, the press agent with a Van Dyke, youths with batheads autographed by celebrities. Book store browsers who tip-toe. That morning bracer. Sauer kraut juice at all soda fountains.

Valet kits for those traveling with servants. A cabaret features a zither band. I wouldn't care about that. Chorus girls with those expensive things. One of the Bustanohys—Jacques, I think. The brittle taffeta.

Recently there appeared a bulletin from one of our best health departments, indicating that diabetes is on the increase.

"Hand in hand with this has been a corresponding increase in the per capita consumption of sugar," says the report, "so that it appears probable that we, especially the ladies, are overtaxing our bodies with too much sugar."

I am not in harmony with the popular suggestion that sugar eating is responsible for diabetes. Frankly, I do not believe it.

There can be no question, I think, that one who actually has diabetes, must reduce markedly his intake of sugar. But as to its use being an important factor in the cause, I believe there is serious doubt. Indeed, it is, in my opinion, a proposition which would be extremely difficult to prove.

There are many other practices and habits that might be pointed to as just as likely to be productive of diabetes. It has long been held that disturbances in the nervous system have a large part in the development of the disease. Tumors, hemorrhages and injuries of the brain and upper part of the spinal cord; disturbances of the so-called ductless glands; the effects of overwork and serious fever; all these are factors of importance.

As one great authority puts it, "We are left with the problem as to whether the condition arises because there is an overliberation of sugar into the blood or because the tissues are unable to consume it." In short, in the present state of our knowledge, we just do not know the exact cause or causes. In any event, as I see it, it is unscientific to jump to the conclusion that sugar consumption is responsible for diabetes.

It is natural to associate excessive sugar eating with excessive quantities of sugar in the blood. But long before sugar, as we take it, can possibly be utilized by the body, it must be converted and transformed into other chemical forms than pure cane sugar. It is the failure of this function and its associated processes that result in the unpleasant symptoms of diabetes.

There are abundant reasons for practicing temperance in the consumption of sugar and, indeed, of all other foods. But there is no reason at present why the use of sugar should be held up as the particular menace of modern society. It is too valuable a food-stuff to be submitted to such attack.

It may be said in all fairness, I think, that we eat too much food. We take for more than we require for our bodily needs. It may well be that we eat too much bread, too much meat, too much green corn, too much soup, too much salad, too much everything. But if we are sensible in our eating, balancing our meals with some degree of common sense, eating what we need and no more, we are unlikely to suffer discomfort or disease in consequence.

We cannot have healthy bodies and the required heat and energy without carbohydrates. Sugar and starch supply these. The starch of vegetables and cereals, the sugar of fruits, the sugar used in making our favorite dishes and desserts the sugar in our reasonable consumption of candy—these are the ways we get our carbohydrates.

By leading a hygienic life, getting fresh air, sunlight and exercise, by giving ourselves sufficient rest and over-sleep, by avoiding excessive and over-work—if these are included in our program of living we may hope to reach 80, if not the century mark.

satisfaction to be the most moral in the world.

The easiest victims of moral traps.

The explanation seems to lie in the fact that working girls have sufficient opportunity for wholesome social contact.

which their leisurely sisters lack. This view is supported by Edith Mac Cummings, prominent Detroit business woman and feminist, who says:

"The business girl who is employed in and office with men, or which men normally frequent, is constantly meeting new people. Hence, her chance for making new associations is as limitless as her opportunity for advancement.

Every opening of the door is a promise of a fresh and fine friend-ship."

Indiscriminate associations, often with the wrong type of people, handicap the leisurely woman unless she is wealthy and able to travel extensively and has unlimited opportunities.

and also the disposition, to make new and wholesome contacts so essential to morality. Of course, it does not naturally follow that a woman with such opportunities is immune to moral degeneration, but given a wholesome outlook at the start, her chances of escaping moral pitfalls are

REPORTS FROM STOCK MARKETS

NEW YORK, Nov. 2.—Stocks were very irregular today, ambitious but rather unsuccessful attempts were made by those working for the rise to absorb the waves of selling that passed over the market. It was apparent in the forenoon that opinion differed regarding the further tremendous increase in brokers' loans last week, and sentiment was somewhat depressed by the calling in of about $10,000,000 in loans by banks.

Popular motor, oil, copper and industrial stocks were pressed from the opening, and, in spite of better buying and signs of individual recoveries at times, nervous selling increased as the morning lengthened. Coca-Cola tumbled 7 points to 16631, and other market leaders like Radio corporation, U. S. Steel, Sears, Roebuck, Victor, Victor Talking Machine, Atlantic Refining and International Nickel were down 1 to 4 points. A 5-point loss appeared in General Motors.

Chicago Grains. CHICAGO, Nov. 2.—Grains opened higher, today, wheat was up one-fourth to three-eights cents, corn one-fourth to five-eights cents, and oats one-eighth to one-fourth cents. Opening quotations:

money, or stock divided. That's another part of the prosperity "myth."

THE meaning of the word "prosperity" is often misunderstood.

It is not limited to those with millions, wondering how they will reinvest money paid them tomorrow.

Prosperity is important because it involves the happiness of the whole people.

IT means sending children to high school, instead of sending them to work.

It means an automobile, to be enjoyed by the whole family, old people especially.

Prosperity means freedom from work, better civilization, happier mothers, able to give their children what they need.

YOUNG TERHUNE, the stowaway caddie on the Graf Zeppelin knows that it pays to be audacious.

THE boy will find fame and large earnings awaiting him in Germany. Hotels are anxious to entertain him, free of charge, and German movie managers await him with fine cash offers. He will screen well; courage always does.

BACON in his essay on "boldness" writes, "There is in human nature generally more of the fool than of the wise; and, therefore, those faculties by which the foolish part of men's minds is taken are most potent.

"Wonderful like is the case of boldness in civil business; what first? Boldness. What second and third? Boldness..... It does fascinate, and blind hand and foot those that are either shallow in judgment, or weak in courage, which are the greatest part; and, as prevaleth with wise men at times."

Ninety percent of business and political success is boldness. And 90 percent of failure is rashness.

HAVING proved Zeppelin success, across the Atlantic, Germany's engineers and builders are now testing huge hydroaeroplanes, destined for ocean flights.

These air giants, weighing 20,000 pounds, loaded, start from the water in 14 seconds.

For a nation forbidden by the Versailles treaty to build a hostile air fleet, Germany is doing well. She leads the world by a wide margin in commercial aircraft.

And commercial aircraft can drop TNT and poison gas, quite easily.

AN emergency board named by President Coolidge to consider rail road wages, suggests 6½ percent increase for 66,000 trainmen. That is another straw in the wind of prosperity, and welcome. Railroad men are up and coming, railroad men are especially conductors, engineers and others bearing the main load of responsibility.

THE public pays their wages and would like to see them higher.

The interstate commerce commission can easily adjust the matter for the roads. With higher rates,

Railroad men live everywhere, and what they earn goes back into immediate circulation.

GRAF ZEPPELIN TOWN STILL CELEBRATING

Friedrichshafen Happy
Over Ocean Voyage
of Dirigible.

ECKENER LAUDED

Stowaway Terhune
Gets First Taste of Champagne.

FRIEDRICHSHAFEN, Nov. 2.—This little town, famous as the birthplace of the Graf Zeppelin and other liners of the air, still maintained its festive air today.

Everywhere were signs of jubilation and pride in the successful termination of the first round trip of a trans-Atlantic passenger and mail air liner. On all sides Dr. Hugo Eckener, commander of the Graf, was hailed as a genius for his magnificent handling of the "queen of the air" through the vicious storms encountered both going to and returning from Lakehurst, N. J.

Last night the University of Freiburg honored Dr. Eckener and Dr. Durr, constructor of the Graf, with degrees making them honorary doctors of science, in a brief ceremony at the Hotel Kurgarten.

Torchlight Parade.

A torchlight parade in honor of the Graf was the tribute of the townsfolk to the sailors of the air.

The officers and passengers of the Zeppelin were feted at a banquet at the Kurgarten hotel. Dr. Eckener, in an after-dinner speech, told of the airship's bitter struggle against the elements while off the coast of Newfoundland.

"I know where the graves of the lost trans-Atlantic fliers are located," he said, referring to the stormy areas off Newfoundland.

"Red" Has His Troubles.

Clarence "Red" Terhune, who gained world fame by stowing away in the hold of the Zeppelin, had his first taste of champagne at the hotel and didn't like it.

"So that's what they all rave about," said the 19-year-old "trans-Atlantic hitchhiker."

"Well, maybe it's as good as they say but that's enough for me," he declared after his first mouthful.

Between warding off German lassies who wanted to kiss him and trying to decide which of hundreds of business offers to accept, "Red" was having his troubles.

Throng Greet Hoover

he is to deliver his penultimate major campaign address tonight.

The special moved over the line of the Louisville and Nashville from Cincinnati to Louisville, being turned over there again to the Baltimore and Ohio, with scheduled stops as follows: North Mount Vernon, Washington, Vincennes, Salem, Illinois and St. Louis.

Parade in St. Louis.

During the four-hour stop at St. Louis, Hoover will meet groups of Republican state managers from Missouri and nearby states, parade from Union station to the Coliseum and then return to his train after the meeting.

"I have come to think of this strip of railroad across the middle of America as my own main street," Hoover declared in a brief talk at Cumberland, Md., the first scheduled stop following his departure last night for Washington.

A throng of 25,000 cheered Hoover as he moved from his train to a nearby speaking platform at Cumberland. Surrounded by a demonstrative audience, which frequently halted his prosperity keynote with bursts of enthusiastic applause, Hoover declared his confidence that "the American people wish it continued."

He is survived by a sister, Miss Theresa Finn, supervisor of public school music, Solon high school, St. Louis, and by a brother, Richard Dean, formerly vice-president of the Pullman company, Chicago.

Hits Gross Materialism.

For a second time, Hoover avowed gross materialism as the true spirit of American prosperity.

"Successful democracy rests wholly upon the moral and spiritual quality of its people," he said with driving emphasis. "Material prosperity and moral progress must march together if we would make the United States that commonwealth so grandly conceived by its founders, to match the expectations of our people, must have constant regard for those human values that give dignity and nobility to life."

Crowds burned red flares at tiny weather-worn railroad stations as the Hoover train sped through. At Harper's Ferry, W. Va., symbol of another major episode of American history, a throng of several thousand cheered the candidate as he waved a friendly greeting from the rear platform of his car.

OLIVER STREET IS GLOW WITH HOPE FOR "AL"

Every Window Flaunts Governor Smith Poster.

READY TO VOTE

Henry McCaddin, Un- dertaker, Says "We Love Him."

NEW YORK, Nov. 2.—Oliver street on the lower East Side, where Al Smith grew up, married and first attained fame, is aglow with hope on the eve of the national presidential election. Every voting American, Irishman, Greek, Italian, Jew and Pole in the poster-plastered thoroughfare is going hook, line and sinker for "Al" and they are letting the wide world know it.

Every window in every home on Oliver street today proudly flaunts an Al Smith poster. Everybody in the neighborhood is giving vent to the urge to help Al—the corner cop, the storekeeper, the housewife, the pushcart peddler, the ward politician, the flapper stenographer.

Many in this melting pot can remember Al when he wore, not the familiar brown derby but one of those flat-topped bowlers that makes the family album famous. "He's Our Al" down in Oliver street.

"Say Al Hasn't Changed."

"He's the same old Al, hasn't changed a bit. Always comes back to see us. We not only admire him—we love him!"

That's what some of his old cronies told International News Service.

Henry McCaddin, undertaker, for instance, relates, with pride how he and Al were actors in the same cast when St. James' Literary union used to put on plays 20 years ago in the basement of St. James' Roman Catholic church just across the alley from Al's old home.

McCaddin removed a picture from the wall. There was the cast of 35. Sitting near Father James Curry, the church pastor, was Al and not far away was a skinny kid named Jimmy Walker. An actor, too.

"And there I am—right near Al," McCaddin pointed proudly.

Claims East Side for Smith.

Switching to politics McCaddin remarked:

"I don't know of a single person on the whole East Side that is for Hoover."

A visit to Al's former home at 25 Oliver street quickly revealed that he will receive ten votes from this residence.

Across the street is one of Al's strongest supporters, a Jew—Morris Sunshine, a laundryman. He reveals in telling you he washed Al Smith's shirts for 20 years—and still does. He showed this reporter one of his most treasured possessions—an old-fashioned lamp that Al gave him when he left the neighborhood for Albany.

"This lamp has historical value," declared Sunshine, "and I wouldn't sell it for five thousand dollars."

"Nothing Too Good for Al."

Others in the neighborhood are less eager to talk. Dr. J. S. J. Manning, whose daughter, Julia, was a bride, doesn't want to get in "Al's limeight," but he, like everyone else in this most partisan thoroughfare in all America, will welcome the governor back to Oliver street whether he wins or loses.

Mrs. Thomas Coleman, for instance, can hardly be prevailed upon to tell of the night when Al Smith picked her out to lead the grand march at the ball but her husband—well, he'll talk about Al as long as you'll listen.

Every night at the downtown Tammany club, just around the corner from Oliver street, there gather all the old companions of Al—and they talk politics far into the night. Everything else is forgotten. In front of this club is a huge electric light sign that lights up the community like a great brilliant every night. The old fellows tell you that this great red, white and blue sign, with its flag, and "Al Smith, for president," has 950 electric light globes and that it cost $3,000.

But what of the cost—when it's for Al!

"Nothing is too good for Al," they say in Oliver street.

Cooper at Columbus

Arkansas, Democratic vice presidential nominee, is to talk at Lima this afternoon and at Dayton tonight where his address was scheduled to go on the air from station WSMK between 9 and 10 p.m. Former U. S. Senator Atlee Pomerene, Cleveland, is to speak today at Toledo. Other Democratic speakers for today are: former Attorney General Frank M. Boggs, Columbus, nominee for state supreme judge, at Toledo; former Governor W. A. Gardner, Missouri, and Reed Weingardner, well-known agriculturist, at Bowling Green; Mrs. Casper Whitney, New York, at Lima.

Mrs. Annie Mathers, New York, and Mrs. Margaret S. Hall, West Virginia, are scheduled to deliver Democratic political talks today at Dayton and Hicksville, respectively.

Others On Stump.

Charles V. Truax, Bucyrus, Democratic nominee for U. S. Senator, long term, is to talk today at Bucyrus and Youngstown. Carl Smith, Kenton, Democratic nominee for secretary of state, is to speak at Logan. Judge Dennis F. Dunlavy, Ashland, Democratic candidate for state supreme judge at Cleveland, and Fred M. Bushnell, Mansfield, Democratic nominee for state treasurer, at Union City.

Nixon Predicts Davey's Defeat.

COLUMBUS, O., Nov. 2—Declaration that Congressman Martin L. Davey, Kent, Democratic gubernatorial nominee, "abandoned by others of his party, is making a sorry spectacle," was made by Arthur A. Nixon,

AFRO-AMERICAN MEETING TONIGHT

Meeting of the Afro-American league will be held at 8 o'clock tonight in the J. A. Goode barber shop in the Little building, St. Clair avenue. Ernest Foster is president of the organization.

Sunday Ushers Drill

nightly will have the forward positions. All are to report as early as 6:45 o'clock, if possible. Each aisle captain will have an assistant.

Doors Nos. 2 and 9 on the south and north sides of the structure are to be used as pass entrances through which all ushers and secretaries will find entrance before the other doors are opened to the public.

Ushers were instructed how to care for persons who may need physical aid by being taken to the emergency hospital in a room adjacent to the platform on the northeast side.

Badges Distributed.

All were charged to look out for lost articles and through their aisle captains have them turned over to Custodian Willis Locke, who will return them upon identification. "We have found enough articles to start a store in some of our meetings," Peterson said. "These have included diamonds, money and even false teeth."

Badges were given out, white ones to the ushers, pink ones to the captains, a yellow colored one to the assistant chief usher and one red one to the chief usher.

Ropes for reserved seats will be withdrawn each night at 7:30 o'clock, Peterson announced.

Urges Personal Responsibility.

Because majority of the men to act as ushers and secretaries had had experience in three revivals, those of Dr. W. E. Blederwolf in 1924, "Bob" Jones in 1920 and Mr. Sunday previously in 1912, the directions of Peterson were abbreviated.

"You are to put all who have an interest on your prayer lists and ever give those seated near you advice or aid in finding the kingdom," Peterson said. "For after all that is the real thing in Christian service."

He urged that all have a sense of personal responsibility in the meetings.

Places for decision cards in a cabinet of the business room ajar the platform were indicated. These will be turned over to Secretary Smith, who will make the proper distribution of them by congregations so that they will be easily available for pastors.

Lights were turned on in the auditorium as the men went through their practice.

Choir Practice Tonight.

The latter assumed full charge on Wednesday night when for the first time he slept in a room on the south-east side of the building.

Every denomination co-operating in the campaign is represented among the attendants and every aisle will be divided proportionately by them in the degree possible at all times.

Two additional stoves, one on each side of the platform, have been placed in position.

Dayton, chairman of the Republican state central committee, in a statement issued today from G. O. P. state headquarters.

"He is without issues and without support. Tuesday, he will be without votes," Nixon predicted.

"Few, if any, Democrats of any rating are for Davey," continued Nixon. "If former Governor James M. Cox was to enter this campaign why did he not remain in Ohio and campaign for Davey, his party's nominee for governor, when Davey needed help? But no, Cox goes a long way from Ohio to campaign for Smith."

"Where are all the other leading Democrats in Ohio in this gubernatorial campaign? Many of them are talking for Al Smith, but poor Martin is struggling along all alone. Why? Because he is out of line with those of his own party."

"On the other hand, we find Myers Y. Cooper, the Republican nominee for governor, earnestly supporting Herbert Hoover and Charles Curtis on the national ticket. We find Republicans of Ohio solidly behind Cooper. Ohio will have a Republican governor with a cooperating Republican legislature for the best interests of the state."

THE TRUTH ABOUT BRAN AND CONSTIPATION

Thousands of people eat bran regularly for the healthful roughage it provides. It is a splendid practice. But be sure you are really getting all the roughage you need when you eat bran. Doctors say it takes 100 g. bran to relieve constipation. Part-bran products, at best, can only accomplish part-way results. That is why they fail!

Kellogg's ALL-BRAN is 100% bran. It furnishes roughage in effective quantities—and in the most effective form: cooked and granulated. Just two tablespoonfuls daily—chronic cases, with every

OSCAR O. ALLISON FOR SHERIFF OF HANCOCK COUNTY

Reports from all sections of Hancock county strongly indicate the election of OSCAR O. ALLISON, for SHERIFF, by a large majority on Tuesday, November 6th.

Mr. Allison has been a life-long resident of the County and deeply interested in its development and progress. His years of service to the public and best interests of the entire community is well known to those who know him best, and bear testimony of his honesty, ability and earnest desire to serve the people of his County.

Constant service to his fellow-men and the community in general, together with his capability, efficiency, courage and determination, cause his friends to proudly believe that he SHOULD AND WILL be elected to the office which he would fill with credit and honor to himself and the County.

During the heat of a campaign few partisan speakers and others urge the voting of a "STRAIGHT TICKET," and while we believe the people should support the political party in whose principles they believe, we DO NOT believe that for COUNTY and LOCAL offices, it is good citizenship to vote for the party candidate just because his name appears upon that ticket, but we DO believe that principle rather than political party affiliation, should govern our action and vote, and the candidate who merits our support and is best qualified to fill the office should be elected.

Possessing the necessary qualifications and having never before asked the people for a County office, the friends of OSCAR ALLISON, regardless of their political affiliation, are appealing to every man and woman voter in Hancock County for their vote and influence at the general election to be held on Tuesday, November 6th.

Mr. Allison's lot is now with the voters of the County and we take pride in urging every one to turn out and cast their ballot for one who really deserves and merits your support, assuring you that your confidence in OSCAR O. ALLISON, will not be betrayed or misplaced.

A Recommendation
We're Proud of

Trotters Hardware,
East Liverpool, Ohio.

Dear Sirs:

We were so pleased with the great cooperation given to us by you and for the privilege of having in our School your Ohne Minute Washer, and to have it displayed on our platform.

I consider it one of the greatest labor saving devices of this century, and one I shall be glad to recommend to the very many interested women in my audience.

Seldom do we have the opportunity of suggesting such very modern equipment to those who attend our Cooking Schools and in my opinion it ranks just as important a factor in efficiency of house-keeping as the modern art of cooking.

Thanking you most sincerely,

Very truly yours,

Potters' County Championship Hopes Hinge On Salem Battle

Red and Black Unbeaten In Five Games to Date

Quakers Hold Victories Over Alumni, Lisbon, Wellsville, Warren, Louisville; Slinger and Konkert Backfield Threats.

In their first important Columbiana county championship clash East Liverpool high grididers will tackle the Salem Quakers tomorrow afternoon at the new Reilly Field stadium, Salem, and the impending contest carries all the earmarks of being one of the greatest scholastic grid classics of the season in Columbiana county.

The Red and Black goes into the county title clash, while the East Liverpool eleven, in event of a win at Salem, must necessarily triumph over Wellsville in the Thanksgiving clash in order to bring the honours to this end of the county.

Local grid followers, whose loyalty to the team has been seen in the extraordinarily large number of fans who have watched from the sidelines at Canton, New Philadelphia and Tipp City, will trek to Salem tomorrow by the score. They feel that the Blue and White should have captured last year's game here and expect to see the consummation of their desires this weekend. In anticipation of a record breaking turnout, Salem school authorities are erecting temporary stands at Reilly field.

BOTH ELEVENS ADEPT AT AIR GAME

AS MUCH as it seems highly improbable that the Quakers will be able to defend effectively to any great extent against the East Liverpool line, it appears that the Blue and White secondary defense will have to work at top stroke against the Red and Black forward passes.

The Quaker squad has always been a tricky combination and this year's outfit appears no exception. They have exhibited a scoring punch in every game of the season to date.

Slinger and Konkert are the threats of the Quaker backfield. If the Hurst men can baffle this pair they will face the Salem offensive pretty well crippled. The passing and running of Konkert and Slinger have been important factors in every victory of the Red and Black this season.

On the other hand, the local squad takes readily to the air game, too, and so, if both teams open up, a flashy exhibition is certain to result.

Faults exhibited in the Bellair game were ironed out this week by the Blue and White squad in practice.

Illinois Pitted Against Michigan; Gophers at Evanston.

By Copeland C. Eurg.

CHICAGO, Nov. 2.—One undefeated Big Ten conference eleven and another that has not won a single victory occupy high spots in tomorrow's midwest gridiron games.

Only victory over Northwestern, Indiana and Michigan plays Princeton, Indiana, and Chicago. Defeated by Iowa, Minnesota, Purdue and so far meets Pennsylvania in Chicago in another inter-sectional tilt.

The Blue, last year's champions and undefeated this season, are pitted against Yost's "bad season" eleven at Ann Arbor and should continue their victory march at least for another Saturday.

Minnesota, still smarting from its defeat by Iowa last weekend, plays the surprising Northwestern eleven at Evanston; Wisconsin and Alabama clash at Milwaukee and Purdue has a soft spot with Case. Indiana is idle. The undefeated scoring machine of Iowa has a brother in South Dakota at Iowa City.

The lowly Maroons probably have the toughest spot of all in Pennsylvania. With a full roster of injured likely to win with a passing South Africa the people are adopting soft sweaters and sport jackets worn by Coach A. A. Stagg will be pressed to eleven's first class air defense.

Big Intersectional Battles Loom.

By David J. Walsh.

COLUMBUS, O., Nov. 2.—Finding neighborhood affairs temporarily at a standstill, intercollegiate football is about to take itself by the hand and toddle off down the block to the great, big, exciting world beyond. The greatest intersectional Saturday of the current season is on the books for tomorrow, with at least six games involving many good ones of the north, south and middle west coming down to a decision.

The greatest meeting of this greatest intersectional day will couple Princeton, unbeaten in the east, and Ohio State, possible winner of the big ten title, in a game that will have a definite effect on the final ranking of national contenders, as well as a natural bearing on the merits of the East versus West situation. It has often been the principal contention that the principals can contrive to come up to a game like this with neither decidedly so this is one thing that should make you want to put your hair up neatly down the center.

Other Important Contests.

The remainder of the intersectional games follow in the order of their importance:

Wisconsin vs Alabama; Penn State vs Notre Dame; Pennsylvania vs Chicago; Army vs Du Pauw and Colgate vs. Wabash.

A truly impressive list when first conceived. It might once have decided everything except possibly tenth place at Hawthorne. Instead, Penn State, Chicago and Notre Dame have had disquieting seasons. Pennsylvania passed away as a national contender last week and Colgate simply hasn't belonged since it finished second to Vanderbilt weeks ago.

However, the Princeton-Otto Stats meeting and that between Alabama, a representative team of the south, and Wisconsin, contenders for the Big Ten championship, can just about manage to carry anything, including that big, round notion on the back of Atlas' neck. The Penn-Chicago affair will not be without significance, either, if Penn loses. If it doesn't, they will write it off as just another pain in Stagg's collar bone.

Sectional Foes Busy.

Meanwhile, the strictly sectional foes won't be altogether quiet as long as we have the following efforts toward solid legitimization:

East Georgetown vs. New York University; Middle West Michigan vs. Illinois; Middle West Nebraska vs. Kansas and Iowa State vs. Oklahoma; Northeast West Southern California vs. Stanford and California vs. Oregon; South Florida vs. Sewanee, Georgia vs. Alabama Poly; Vanderbilt vs. Kentucky; Texas vs. Southern Methodist; Texas Christian vs. Baylor.

The Georgetown-N. Y. U. game might easily determine the final identity of the eastern champion. This year it will do is narrow the list of West Point's rival for that distinction, a list already so narrow that it could march squads through the crack in the Liberty Bell. There is nothing in that Big Ten line-up apparently except Illinois in one game and Minnesota in the other but Nebraska will just about declare itself on the Big Six championship if it beats Kansas.

Local forecasters are saying the Potters are an edge over Salem if there is no more rain to hamper their operations. Wellsville should win from Lisbon and Midland, on the face of things, should conquer Freedom.

Chester, however, will have a tough battle at Weirton.

POTTERY GRID TEAMS TO CLASH

Bomer, Lauchlin and Edwin M. Knowles football teams are slated to tangle tomorrow afternoon on the Newell gridiron.

The contest will begin at 1 o'clock.

Find a suitable first eleven to start against the invaders. Stagg will play the toughest spot of all in Pennsylvania. With a full roster of injured likely to win with a passing South Africa the people are adopting soft sweaters and sport jackets worn by Coach A. A. Stagg will be pressed to eleven's first class air defense.

Ohio State will enter the game Saturday with a grim determination to obtain vengeance for its defeat at the hands of the Tigers at Palmer stadium, last year, and, unless sports critics from Ohio and other parts of the country have placed their saddles on the wrong animal, the Buckeyes will have that vengeance when the final whistle ends the game.

Ohio is favored to win. Even though not by a large score, because of the steady development of the team in the last three conference clashes. While Ohio's backfield men are not believed to be in a class with Princeton offensive stars, Witten, Miles and Reardon, its line is declared to be far superior to the Tiger forward wall and is expected to play a good part in determining the winner.

ELECTRIFIES STEAM LINES

Pennsy Planning Costly Project in East.

General W. W. Atterbury, president of the Pennsylvania Railroad company, yesterday announced that the board of directors of the company has authorized the electrification of the entire road train service, freight and passenger between New York and Wilmington, Del.

The authority covers a part of a plan which includes also electrification of the grades between the Susquehanna, Schuylkill and Delaware river valleys and eastern terminals.

The project as now announced covers the passenger and freight service on 325 miles of line and 1,300 miles of track, beginning at Hell Gate bridge, New York, where connection is made with New England and extending west and south to Wilmington, west from Philadelphia on the main line in the direction of Harrisburg as far as Atlein, Pa., and the low grade freight lines which join at Columbia, Pa., and connect the cities of New York, Philadelphia and Wilmington with the west.

This electrification will far exceed in magnitude and in importance that of any other railroad in the world, in miles of track to be electrified, in volume and density of passenger and freight business handled, in size and amount of equipment required, in the number of trains affected, and in terminal operations involved.

The project will be undertaken progressively in sections and extend over a period of years.

It is estimated that the cost of this electrification will be approximately $100,000,000, to be spent, however, during the next seven or eight years at the rate of about $15,000,000 per year, 60 percent of the total being for transmission line and substation work, and 40 percent for rolling stock.

Declarer that "it would make matters worse" to close schools at Salineville where a diphtheritic epidemic, in small stages, was uncovered recently, and asking the public's co-operation in combating the spread of the disease. Dr. T. T. Church, Salem, county health officer, today said that with the proper care and assistance the number of cases should rapidly diminish.

One death occurred in Salineville while the epidemic was at its height.

In a statement covering various angles of the situation, Dr. Church says:

"As far as we have been able to determine, the beginning of the epidemic was an unrecognized case in a family where several had had sore throats and had been cared for with home remedies, no physician being called until the youngest developed a case of laryngeal diphtheria and died.

"As no precaution had been taken with these cases of sore throats, naturally a number of children were exposed and some have become sick. With the proper care and co-operation of the towns people, the number of cases should diminish and cease, now that the disease has been recognized and cared for intelligently.

"We have been asked several times why we did not close the schools. In our opinion that would only make matters worse, as the children would be on the streets and there would be no checkup on their condition. In some school districts we have found this utter lack of co-operation.

"We have also had many complaints from people that the quarantine is not being observed. Possibly they do not understand the requirements and are blaming the quarantined family unjustly. The children of a family quarantined for diphtheria are required to stay on their own premises and the wage earner may go and come, provided his work does not bring him into contact with children or with the handling of food. When he is at home he is not to come in contact with the sick one who should be isolated. Of course this is a matter of honor and honesty of the wage earner.

"We have heard these reports of quarantine being broken, but so far no one has come forward with facts to prove the reports.

"We hope that every parent will co-operate to the extent of seeing that his own child is well, or, if sick, is kept away from other children until the trouble is definitely located, and will not give heed to idle gossip or unfounded rumors, and if he knows something is wrong, be willing to back up his statements in court."

HOOVER LEADS IN FINAL POLLLiterary Digest Gives
Smith Four States.

NEW YORK Nov. 2.—Final figures in the Literary Digest's presidential election poll were published yesterday giving Herbert Hoover a commanding lead over Governor Alfred E. Smith.

A total of 2,757,263 votes were received out of the 13,000,000 ballot sent out, and of this number Herbert Hoover received 1,750,584 to 957,755 to Governor Smith, or a percentage of 63.2 for Hoover to 35.7 for Smith. Some of the returns were scattered among other candidates.

The Digest poll showed Governor Smith leading only in four states—Georgia, Louisiana, Mississippi and South Carolina.

Republican leaders, of course, are well satisfied with the results of the poll, but Democratic leaders deplore it.

John J. Raskob, chairman of the Democratic national committee, is quoted by the Digest as saying that: "It is interesting to note that if the figures shown in the poll are corrected through applying the same errors as occurred in the 1924 poll, Governor Smith carries New York, Massachusetts, Connecticut and Illinois."

Service Stations
Reap Rich Harvest
From Auto Owners

CHICAGO—Motorists of the nation spend the staggered sum of over five billion dollars annually with service stations and repair shops, according to Charles M. Hayes, president of the Chicago Motor Club, which is affiliated with the American Automobile Association.

Hayes based his statement on figures furnished by the Research department of the A. A. A. showing that in 1927 more than five and a quarter billion dollars was spent with service stations and repair shops by car owners.

"This gigantic sum," said Hayes, "was divided as follows: Parts and service supplies, $956,000,000; tires for replacement, $925,000,000; fuels and lubricants, $2,350,000,000, and service labor $1,002,000,000. In 1919 the total amount was $2,125,000,000, while in 1925 it reached $1,815,000,000."

How to Strengthen Any Stomach

POSSIBLY that sourness in the stomach is due entirely to an over-stimulation of gastric acid. A sour stomach isn't pleasant; and it isn't easy to excuse, when there is so simple a way to remedy it. To neutralize the harmful acid and put your stomach in good order take a little "Pape's Diapepsin"; after meals, or whenever the need is felt.

This fine remedy removes the cause of the trouble and promotes normal, healthy digestion. "Pape's Diapepsin" is sold by all druggists at 60 cents a package, and is the remedy which is recommended by millions because it gives immediate relief in all cases of difficult and painful digestion.

So, just be sure you provide yourself with "Pape's Diapepsin" today, so that stomach pain and digestive troubles need never worry you again. Our sour stomachs could not be helped.

A Free Sample of Malt O-Meal

"A Cereal You'll Enjoy"

Malt-O-Meal is a delightful tasting, quick cooking wheat cereal flavored with specially prepared barley malt. It has just enough barley malt in it to give it a very pleasing, individual flavor. In addition to being a good tasting cereal, it has muscle and health building qualities that make it a desirable food for invalids and those who need light food, yet require a maximum of nourishment. It is not only good as a porridge, but it makes excellent mush for frying and can be used as the base for very tasty puddings. Try the sample that is left at your door and remember that Y-O-U-R grocer sells it. Remember the name—Malt-O-Meal.

Foochow Stages Comeback; World's Greatest Tea Port

WASHINGTON—Famous for its sweet-smelling tea, Foochow, China, is reported to have staged a comeback as one of the world's greatest tea ports, according to the National Geographic Society.

"The steep slopes of Fukien Province, which bowed to the vast plantations of Ceylon and Japan nearly two decades ago, are again covered with thriving tea bushes," the Society said. "Tea-laden boats on the Min recall the days when the Yankee clippers cleared Foochow with cargoes of fragrant leaves destined for American teapots."

The Min river was not opened to foreign shipping until 1861. After that year, Foochow's annual output of tea alone reached the 100,000,000 mark and it makes a fair bid to repeat this record."

in Challenge Flavor Test

Defeat acknowledged by entire company presenting the screaming new musical comedy

George White's "MANHATTAN MARY"

Find expensive spread-for-bread tastes exactly like

GOOD LUCK MARGARINE

In the production of some other margarines inexpensive vegetable oils, devoid of vitamins, are substituted for the whole milk and choice nourishing meat products that make GOOD LUCK Margarine so rich in both vitamin "A" and vitamin "D".

BECAUSE you know the wonderful economy of Jelke GOOD LUCK Margarine, you may have doubted that its flavor matches perfectly the most expensive spread-for-bread. Possibly you have made the mistake of confusing GOOD LUCK with ordinary margarines made from inexpensive vegetable oils.

"Taste them both, please, and tell us, if you can, which is which," we challenged, after distributing samples of the most expensive spread-for-bread and Jelke GOOD LUCK to the entire cast of "Manhattan Mary" on the stage of Cohan's Grand Opera House in Chicago.

The result was another complete victory for this finer margarine, made from whole milk and choice meat products. "I don't know," was the reply echoed by every member of the company, including the famous beauty chorus.

Have you tried the Challenge Test? If not, get a package today. Let your family decide. Then use it regularly to obtain all the benefits of its wonderful economy.

Lilli Dillenz Planning New Atlantic Hop With Woman Flyer

BERLIN.—Lilli Dillenz, beautiful Viennese actress and Thea Rasche, noted German aviatrix, are secretly preparing a trans-oceanic flight from Berlin to New York next Spring. Thea Rasche will pilot.

Franz Dillenz has twice attempted to make a trans-Atlantic flight. Her first attempt failed when bad weather stopped her flight at the Azores. This spring she organized a second attempt and was just about ready to purchase the Junker's plane "Europa," sister ship of the Bremen in which Koehl and Huenfeld crossed the Atlantic when her German backers withdrew after a dispute.

Thea Rasche, too, was balked in her attempt to fly from America to Europe by differences with her backers.

BRITAIN FEARS
U. S. WILL GRAB
POWER TRADELondon Complains of
Move to Control
Industry.

EDITORS PROTEST

Demand Action at Coming Session of Parliament.

LONDON. — British newspapers complain that United States corporations are attempting, with success, to gain financial control of the electrical industry in Great Britain.

This move, it is stated, is in pursuit of the great prize of $1,250,000,000, the sum which Britain is about to spend under the new electricity scheme authorized by the act of parliament of 1926, with a board of control of which Sir Andrew Rae Duncan is chairman.

The newspapers allege that if American interests can secure contracts under this scheme, the actual orders will be executed in the United States and not in Britain. They declare that increased unemployment in this country would be the inevitable result.

American Interests.

In support of their contention they point out that the great firm of the British Thompson-Houston company, with works at Rugby, Birmingham, Coventry and Willesden, is controlled by American interests. Of the 2,000,000 ordinary shares of the company, 1,900,000 are held by the International Electric company of New York.

Some thousands of the issued preference shares are in American hands, and several American directors sit on the Board of this American-controlled British company.

In its turn, British Thompson-Houston holds one third of the controlling shares of Power Securities Corporation, Ltd., which again holds 24,500 of the 25,000 preference and all the ordinary shares of the Balfour-Beatty company of electrical engineers.

Babcox and Wilcox also hold one third of the controlling shares of the power corporation, the shareholders of Babcox and Wilcox include holdings of $3,250,000 from the United States.

Fear U. S. Control.

It is also declared that the Anglo-American Debenture corporation holds as trustees, several million pounds of debentures in the English Electric company and that a working agreement is believed to exist between the American Westinghouse Electric company and Metropolitan Vickers, one of the largest British concerns.

If this state of affairs continue, the newspapers state, the industry—whose capital has increased from $400,000,000 in 1920 to $1,140,000,000 in 1927—will come under American control for all intents and purposes, and open competition will cease. All government contracts will be fixed at prices acceptable to the United States.

They call on parliament to take up the matter during the coming session.

During a race held recently at Pewsey, England, women entrants had to change from the sidecars of motorcycles to baby buggies which were then pushed by the male cyclists.

Soviets Ridicule New Claim Czar and Family
Were Not Murdered

BERLIN. — Czar Nicholas II, the Czarina, and the whole imperial family are not dead at all, the Russian Prince Galitzin-Muravilov claims in the Hungarian government paper "Nemzeti Ujsag."

They escaped, he asserts, the very same night of August 18, 1918, on which their execution had been ordered. Lenin, however, to hide the failure of the executioners and to make the Russian monarchists believe their ruler was dead, ordered that the story of the imperial family's annihilation be spread abroad.

Czar Nicholas, Prince Galitzin believes, is enjoying a more or less pleasant family life somewhere, awaiting the hour which he thinks suitable to return to the world stage again.

In the meantime, however, every Russian who pays allegiance to another Czar breaks his oath to Czar Nicholas II, Prince Galitzin declares.

The Soviet embassy says the Prince's story is nonsense.

IN your desire to protect your motor against the damage of cold—do not go half way. Do not leave this vital matter to your memory—no matter how well you remember. Some day—at the wrong time—you will forget—and the damage will be done.

There is one sure way to guard your motor. A way that works automatically and with scientific accuracy. It is Pines Automatic Winterfront. Equip your car with this proved protection today.

The dangerous season of cold is here

The hardest of all seasons for your motor. Experts agree that the mere act of starting a cold-stiffened motor does more harm than days of summer driving.

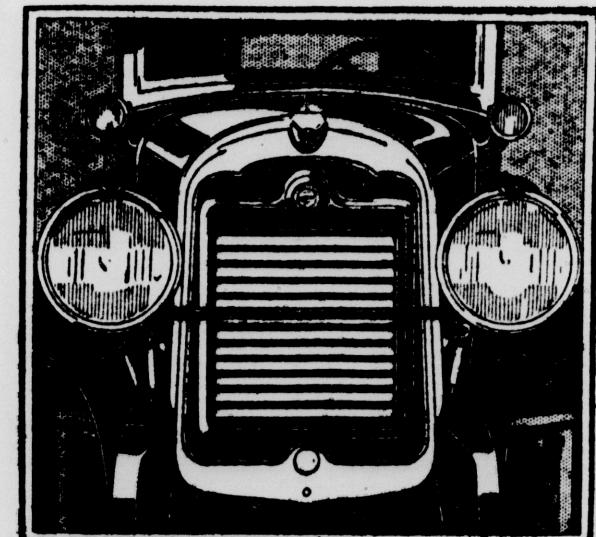

During the months ahead, your motor will suffer from excess dilution, fouled spark plugs, extreme carbonization, corrosion and rapid cylinder wear—if you do not guard it against these dangers.

Automatic motor protection is the sure way

This way leaves nothing to the memory of the driver. There is no chance for dangerous guessing. Experts say that makeshift radiator protection is little better than none at all.

Pines Automatic Winterfront is the only automatic radiator shutter on the market. There is no other like it—none with similar advantages.

Illustrating the REO equipped with Pines Automatic Winterfront

Have your car equipped when temperature reaches 60° Fahrenheit—and forget cold. Pines Automatic Winterfront will give you years of service. Thermostats are guaranteed. Its price is extremely low compared with what you will spend next spring for repairs if you drive through the winter without this vital protection.

British Women Spend $60,000,000 Every Year For Silk Stockings

LONDON.—An estimate that $60,- 000,000 is spent annually in England on women's stockings was given by Douglas Hackling, M. P., parliamentary secretary for the Overseas Trade Department, when he opened a hosiery exhibition at Nottingham yesterday.

What an enormous saving could be made, he added, if a holeless or had-less stocking could be produced.

United Kingdom, of which 10,000,000 wore silk or artificial silk stockings at $8 a pair and eight pairs a year, he did not think that figure extravagant.

More than 50,000,000 pounds of inedible olive oil will be imported into the United States this year.

Thirteen healthy chicks were hatched from 12 eggs by a hen at Lumpinian, Scotland, recently.

Thrilling story of love of two girls for the same man

By HAZEL LIVINGSTON

Turner, the stuck-up neighbor was astonished. He couldn't get over the change in Old Man Haines. He looked almost young. "How old are you anyway, Haines?" he asked one day.

"Sixty-six—getting along, Turner, getting along."

"Sixty-six! You don't mean it... why man, you could pass for fifty!"

Old Man Haines "ame home in high spirits. "Said I could pass for fifty," he told Adelina.

"Oh sure you got years and years before you'll be old!" she said absently. She was getting ready to go into San Francisco on another shopping tour with Crystal.

After she had gone there was no one for him to talk to. Except Daphne, and Old Man Haines didn't want to talk to Daphne. He had caught a look in her eye lately... accusing... as if he might have done some of this for Martha... her mother.

He didn't want to talk to Daphne, so he sat and mused in the warm summer darkness instead. Young. He was still young. Years and years ahead. Years to be happy with Adelina...

And then it came to him—his money wouldn't last years! It... it was going fast now... have to call a halt...

He went inside and did some flailing. He worked most of the night. In the morning he went to see Tulson, at the bank.

It was on a Wednesday morning that Mrs. Haines and Crystal got back. A hot day, full of white, glaring sun, and dry, spicy smelling dust, swept up from the unpaved orchard road. Crystal, triumphant and fresh as a daisy, ran ahead.

"Daphne, any mail? Not a bit? Listen, I got the most gorgeous evening wrap—gold brocade. Wait till you see it. Where's Pa? Playing golf? Hope he's in good humor, it cost enough—"

Mrs. Haines followed, fallen arches sagging in pumps that were just shade too narrow, blue foulard dress and white kid gloves darkly stained with perspiration.

"Mercy it's hot! Pretty soft for you sitting on the porch reading a book. I don't know why the schools have these long vacations... the whole summer... where's your father?"

"In the dining room. He's been working with his check books and things all morning, and all last night. He—he doesn't seem very well—"

"Check books?" Mrs. Haines wheezed.

Without stopping to her shining nose or remove the tight hat that was making a cruel red line around her aching head, she made for the dining room. "Abner, what does this mean—"

He looked up from the table where he was working, swept a thick, hairy wrist across his tired old eyes. "Adelina, I—I must have been crazy. Didn't stop to realize how the money was going. I'm not a rich man, Adelina, I wish I was—"

"Not a rich man... Not a... what are you saying? My God, have you deceived me? Abner! What are you telling me—speak up—"

Daphne heard her stepmother's voice going up and up, hysterically, rising to a thin, shrill scream. Then her father's, low, beseeching, feverishly explaining, explaining...

With burning cheeks she tiptoed away.

When she came back into the house, late in the afternoon, Old Man Haines was still shut in the dining room, working over his books.

Upstairs Adelina walked the floor. Back and forth. Back and forth, from the big front room that was hers, full of plump pink silk cushions and baby pictures of Crystal, to the frosty green coolness of Crystal's room.

She had to' n off the blue foulard, and the patent leather slippers. She walked in her stocking feet, holding an old kimono carelessly around her uncircumcised, billowing figure. Her brassy hair had come loose, its stringy ends sprayed over one ear. "Oh my God, how was I to know he had ten brothers and sisters to get the money? Ten! That woman had eleven children. Would anyone naturally think of that? I naturally thought, I naturally thought he got it all, living here in his mother's house, who wouldn't?"

"Shut up, will you?" Crystal groaned, trying to curl her back hair. "Let him go broke—who cares? I'll be married any time now, and then—"

"You only think of yourself," Mrs. Haines went on hysterically. "It's my own fault, bringing you up so selfish. Working my fingers to the bone for you—"

"Mama, will you shut up!"

Somebody was coming up the stairs, the two women paused to listen. But it was only Daphne. Daphne, white and wan in a faded middy. "There's a C. O. D. downstairs from the city for Crystal, a hundred and eighty dollars."

"I told you to charge it!" Crystal shrieked, galvanized into action now, and glaringly accusingly at her mother.

Mrs. Haines stopped whining, her loose mouth tightened. She stared bitterly and dolefully at her daughter. "I never thought," she began falteringly, "I never thought but what it would be easy to get the money—"

More voices downstairs. The old man's stern and angry. "No. I won't pay—I didn't order it. Take it away!"

The front door slammed the old man shuffled toward the stairway. They heard him coming up, heavily, breathing hard.

"Your father turned out fine I must say!" Adelina shrieked to Daphne, "I might known—I was a fool to trust him!"

CHAPTER 4.

The old man pounded up the stairs. The three women in the hallway waited, hardly daring to breathe.

He came with lowered head, red-faced and puffing, his short, thick arms swinging. "A hundred and eighty dollars for an evening coat!" he bellowed. "Do you think I'm made of money? This thing has got to stop—do you hear me? How dare you run bills like that? How dare you—"

Nobody answered. They just waited, all huddled together, for him to go on.

"This thing has got to stop—I won't have it—I—"

He fumbled for words, their silence chilled him. Suppose Adelina wouldn't forgive him... "Adelina," voice cracked, "you know I don't mean—don't mean to be hard on anybody. It's just that—that—"

The spell was broken. The girl whose gold brocade evening wrap was already on its way back to the shop found her voice. "It's just that you're too stingy to live! You'd have us all wearing mom'r hubbards and kitchen aprons if you could. I needed that coat—I have to have it—"

"Wear your other one, it's plenty to good enough!"

"That old rat?" Crystal screamed. "To go out with Ralph McKitt? Never—I'd soon be dead. I won't go, that's all. I'll stay home. You can tell him not to come for me, Mama. Tell him any lie you think of. Oh I'll be glad when I'm married—I'll never set foot in this house again—never!"

"Mama'll get you something to wear, Pet. Mama'll fix up something—"

"No thank you. I've been humiliated enough for one night—I won't go!" And then, bitterly, facing her tearful mother, "Oh I knew it—ould be like this! I told you when you married the old skimpin'!"

Daphne crept to her room. She heard Crystal's door slam, the grating of the key being turned on the inside. From the big room at the front of the house came the murmur of voices, angry, unavering with hate; her father and his new wife, fighting.

Her cheeks burned with shame, shame for her father... to think he could come to this... shouting, crying, calling ugly names, and then abjectly begging forgiveness, pleading for leave. "You do love me, Adelina? You said you did, you can't have changed? You're not yourself, Adelina, you don't know what you're saying—"

"We can't go on like this!" the girl thought wildly.

"Well all go mad every one of us!"

HOLT STARS AS ZANE GREY HERO

Jack Holt is back again in Zane Grey productions. This news will be greeted by popular acclaim by fans of both author and star. Paramount has brought them back together in "The Vanishing Pioneer" which opened yesterday at the Ceramic theater.

Fans will remember Jack Holt in such successes from the pen of Zane Grey including, "Light of The Western Stars," "The Thundering Herd," "Born to the West," and others. All these, of course, were produced by Paramount, and in reuniting Zane Grey and Jack Holt, Paramount has, and will gladden the heart of many a movie fan.

KNOWS NO WORDS TO TELL OF JOY KONJOLA BROUGHT

Various Ugly Stomach Symptoms Are Quickly Eliminated by Short Treatment of New Remedy.

MR. ASA L. POWELL.

"My stomach had been in a bad condition for five years and on top of that I was a victim of habitual constipation, but Konjola quickly and permanently restored my health," said Mr. Asa L. Powell, 114 Edward street, Youngstown, Ohio.

"So many stomach symptoms came over me after each meal that life was a constant round of suffering. Gas bloating, belching spells and dizzy attacks were among them. Chronic constipation made conditions all the worse and although I took strong laxatives they only had temporary effect. I tried every medicine available, but it was all to no effect and I was very discouraged.

"How can I ever describe what Konjola has done for me? Words seem worthless. I have been restored to glorious health by only a short treatment of this medicine. All the symptoms I told you about have been permanently banished and I feel sure the relief is permanent. I eat whatever I want without suffering afterward and constipation is a thing of the past. I endorse Konjola whenever I can because I know what it will do."

Konjola is sold in Liverpool, O., at Carnahan drug store and by all the leading druggists in every town throughout this entire section.

"The Vanishing Pioneer" is the latest Zane Grey production starring Jack Holt. Fans also will be glad to have the opportunity of witnessing a father and son both in the same production. We refer to young Tim Holt, son of the star, and who is, 7 years old. For the time he is privileged to act with his illustrious father, he does very well.

The supporting cast is excellent, William Powell, the suave villain, has a leading and important part. Also Fred Kohler, the sneering one, who has brought fame to himself with George Bancroft, does an effective piece of work. Sally Blane, one of the prettiest feminine actresses on the screen plays opposite Jack Holt. Others in the cast are Guy Oliver, Roscoe Karns and March Mathews.

"NIGHT WATCH" POWERFUL STORY

An intensely dramatic climax laid in a powerful story of unusual setting makes "The Night Watch," the First National picture which opened last night at the American a highly worth-while screen production.

Billie Dove, never more beautiful nor charming, has what many will regard as the most dramatic role of her starring career and one which called upon all her emotional depths for a convincing characterization.

She plays the wife of a naval officer who is falsely implicated in a murder which can only be cleared up by her testimony and this testimony will cast a shadow upon her own honor. In this role Miss Dove displayed unusual dramatic qualities, and at the same time maintained a fine restraint in her characterization.

Donald Reed and Paul Lukas, in the leading masculine roles, have parts of practically equal importance and their contrasting personalities add greatly to the story's power.

Nicholas Sosasanin, Gustave Paratos, Nicholas Bela, Anita Garvine and others are prominent in the supporting cast, and all present finely drawn characterizations.

"The Night Watch" is another high spot in the directorial career of Alexander Korda, whose "The Private Life of Helen of Troy," "The Yellow Lily" and other American productions have placed him among the front-rank of film directors.

The story is based on the stage success of a few years ago, "In The Night Watch," and was adapted to the screen by Lapos Biró.

Hankow, China, is seeking to become the center of commercial air lines.

One mine in Venezuela is reported to be producing 2,500 ounces of gold monthly.

Silk exported by Japan in a recent month was valued at more than $45,000,000.
